Important

- The percentage used to calculate the New Jersey earned income tax credit (NJEITC) increased to 22.5% of the Federal benefit for tax for tax year 2008. The NJEITC will increase to 25% for tax year 2009 and thereafter.
- Any reference in this bulletin to a spouse also refers to a partner in a civil union (CU) recognized under New Jersey law.

Introduction

Part-year residents are subject to tax on income received from all sources (both inside and outside New Jersey) during the portion of the year that they were residents of the State. Likewise, part-year nonresidents are subject to tax on any income received from New Jersey sources while they were nonresidents. This bulletin explains:

- Who is a part-year resident/part-year nonresident for New Jersey income tax purposes, as well as who is a full-year resident or nonresident;
- What your New Jersey income tax responsibilities are as a part-year resident/part-year nonresident;
- How to complete a part-year New Jersey income tax return; and
- When a part-year resident must file both resident and nonresident income tax returns with New Jersey in the same tax year.

NOTE: This bulletin covers filing requirements for individual residents and nonresidents only. The examples illustrate how to prepare part-year returns for tax year 2008. Thus, the forms and amounts (tax rates, income exclusions, etc.) shown in the text and examples may not reflect current information for other tax years.

For information on estates and trusts, see the instructions for the New Jersey Gross Income Tax Fiduciary Return (Form NJ-1041).

Definitions

For New Jersey income tax purposes, your residency status depends on where you were domiciled and where you maintained a permanent place of abode during the tax year. In general, when you change your domicile to (or from) this State during the year, you are a resident of New Jersey for part of the year (part-year resident) and a nonresident of New Jersey for part of the year (part-year nonresident). Your move is generally considered a change of residency status (resident to nonresident or vice versa) if at the time you moved, you intended to permanently leave one home and establish a new, fixed, and permanent home somewhere else.

Full-Year Resident

You were a full-year New Jersey resident if:

- New Jersey was your domicile for the entire year, and you did not satisfy all three conditions for nonresident status (below); or
- New Jersey was not your domicile, but you maintained a permanent place of abode in New Jersey for the entire year and you spent more than 183 days in New Jersey. (Members of the U.S. Armed Forces stationed in New Jersey who are not domiciled here are not residents under this definition.)

Full-Year Nonresident

You were a full-year New Jersey nonresident if:

- New Jersey was not your domicile, and you spent 183 days or less here; or
- New Jersey was not your domicile, you spent more than 183 days here, but you did not maintain a permanent home here; or
- New Jersey was your domicile and you met all three of the following conditions for the entire year:

1. You did not maintain a permanent place of abode in New Jersey; and
2. You did maintain a permanent place of abode outside of New Jersey; and
3. You did not spend more than 30 days in New Jersey.

Part-Year Resident/Part-Year Nonresident

If, as a result of a change of your domicile, you met the definition of New Jersey resident or nonresident for only part of the year, you are a resident for part of the year (part-year resident) and a nonresident for the remainder of that year (part-year nonresident).

Domicile is any place you regard as your permanent home—the place to which you intend to return after a period of absence (e.g., vacation abroad, business assignment, educational leave, etc.). You have only one domicile, although you may have more than one place to live. Once established, your domicile continues until you move to a new location with the intent to establish a fixed and permanent home there. Moving to a new location, even for a long time, does not change your domicile if you intend to remain only for a limited time.

Domicile is based on many factors, including your intent, where you register to vote, maintain a driver's license and vehicle registration, have family ties, etc. You can have only one domicile at a time. The burden of proof is upon the person asserting a change of domicile to show that the necessary intention existed to abandon his or her domicile in one location and to establish a fixed and permanent home in another.

Permanent place of abode is a residence (a building or structure where a person can live) that you maintain permanently as your household, whether you own it or not. It usually includes a residence your spouse/civil union partner owns or leases.

A residence, whether inside or outside of New Jersey, is not permanent if you maintain it only during a temporary or limited period of time, no matter how long, for the accomplishment of a particular purpose (e.g., temporary job assignment). Likewise, a home used only for vacations is not a permanent place of abode.

If New Jersey is your domicile, you will be considered a resident for New Jersey tax purposes unless you meet all three conditions for nonresident status. See Full-Year Nonresident on page 2. Likewise, if New Jersey is not your domicile, you will be considered a New Jersey resident only if you maintain a permanent place of abode in New Jersey and spend more than 183 days here.

Filing Requirements

Your filing status and gross income determine whether you have to file a New Jersey income tax return. Age is not a factor in determining whether a person must file. Even minors (including students) and senior citizens must file if they meet the income filing requirements.

To find out whether or not you are required to file a New Jersey income tax return, use the “Who Must File” chart in either the resident (NJ-1040) or nonresident (NJ-1040NR) return booklet.

Time Period Covered by Return (Full-Year or Part-Year)

The period covered by your return will be twelve months (full-year return), or less than twelve months (part-year return). Most taxpayers use a calendar year (January 1–December 31) to record their income. Fiscal year filers use a different period (e.g., July–June). This bulletin assumes that you are a calendar year filer.

New Jersey has two personal income tax returns for individuals: Form NJ-1040 for residents and Form NJ-1040NR for nonresidents. New Jersey does not have separate tax returns for part-year residents or part-year nonresidents. You must use either Form NJ-1040 or Form NJ-1040NR (or both) depending on your residency status during the year, and show the income you received during the period of time covered by the return. Part-year residents use the same form as full-year residents (Form NJ-1040) and indicate the period of their New Jersey residency above Line 1. The return should show only the income received during that period. Likewise, part-year nonresidents use the same form as full-year nonresidents (Form NJ-1040NR), and indicate above Line 1 the period of time they were New Jersey residents.

If you file a part-year nonresident return, you will also file a part-year resident return, unless you had no income during the part of the year you were a resident. You must allocate your income between the resident and nonresident returns as appropriate. That is, report the income you received during the time you were a resident on your part-year resident return, and report the income you received during the part of the year you were a nonresident on your part-year nonresident return.

Examples

1. Mary Smith was a New Jersey resident from January 1 through December 31. She files a “full-year” resident return which shows income received during the twelve-month period January–December.
2. Harry and Louise Evans were New Jersey residents from May 1 to December 31. They must file a “part-year” resident return and report the income they received during their period of residency (May–December).

NOTE: If they had income from New Jersey sources between January 1 and April 30, the period when their residency status was “nonresident,” they must file a New Jersey part-year nonresident return too. See Part-Year Nonresidents on page 6.

3. Jane Henderson was a full-year resident of New York who worked in New Jersey from July through November. She files a “full-year” nonresident return because she was a nonresident for the entire year. Her New Jersey nonresident return will show the income she received during the period she was a nonresident i.e., January–December.
4. Adam Crenshaw worked in New Jersey for the entire year. For three months of the year he was a New Jersey resident and for the remaining nine months, a Delaware resident. Adam must file two New Jersey income tax returns: (1) a “part-year” resident return which shows the income he received during the three months he was a New Jersey resident and (2) a “part-year” nonresident return which shows his income during the period he was a nonresident of New Jersey.

Residency Status and Income

Full-Year Residents—

- You must file a full-year New Jersey resident income tax return if you were a New Jersey resident for the entire year and your gross income for the entire year was more than $20,000 ($10,000 if filing status is single or married/CU partner, filing separate return.
- You are not required to file a full-year New Jersey resident income tax return if you were a New Jersey resident for the entire year and your gross income for the entire year was $20,000 or less ($10,000 or less if filing status is single or married/CU partner, filing separate return).

NOTE: If you are a full-year resident and your income is below the amount at which you would be required to file a tax return, you must file Form NJ-1040 (or file electronically using NJ WebFile or approved vendor software) to claim a refund of income tax withheld or estimated payments made. You must also file a return to receive a New Jersey earned income tax credit even if you have no tax liability to New Jersey.

Part-Year Residents—

- You must file a part-year New Jersey resident income tax return if you were a New Jersey resident for part of the year and your gross income from all sources for the entire year was more than $20,000 ($10,000 if filing status is single or married/CU partner, filing separate return) and you received any income (whether from New Jersey sources or not) during the part of the year you were a New Jersey resident.

You are subject to tax on the income shown on your part-year resident return if your gross income for the entire year was more than $20,000 ($10,000 if filing status is single or married/CU partner, filing separate return), even if the income you reported on your part-year return for the period of New Jersey residency was $20,000 or less ($10,000 or less if filing status is single or married/CU partner, filing separate return).

No New Jersey income tax is due if the income you received during the entire year was $20,000 or less ($10,000 or less if filing status is single or married/CU partner, filing separate return). If your gross income was $20,000 or less ($10,000 or less if filing status is single or married/CU partner, filing separate return), enclose a copy of your Federal income tax return when you file your part-year New Jersey return. If you did not file a Federal return, enclose a statement with your New Jersey return certifying that your income for the entire year was $20,000 or less ($10,000 or less if filing status is single or married/CU partner, filing separate return).

NOTE: When you are a part-year New Jersey resident, you are a nonresident for the remainder of that year. See the filing requirements for Part-Year Nonresidents on page 6.

Examples

1. During 2008, Jane Hanson, single, was a resident of California for ten months and a New Jersey resident for two months. Her income as a California resident totaled $23,000, and the income she received during the two months she was a New Jersey resident was $2,900. Jane is subject to tax on the $2,900 she received as a part-year New Jersey resident because her income for the entire year was more than $10,000.
2. Martha Gibson, single, was a New Jersey resident from January through September 2008, when she moved to Florida and became a resident there. Her income as a New Jersey resident totaled $5,800 and her income while a Florida resident was $600. Martha is not required to file a New Jersey part-year resident return, and she owes no New Jersey income tax on the $5,800 she received as a part-year New Jersey resident because her income for the entire year was $10,000 or less. However, Martha must file a return to claim any refund of New Jersey income tax that was either withheld or remitted through estimated payments. When she files her 2008 New Jersey return, Martha must enclose a copy of her Federal income tax return or, if no Federal return is filed, a statement certifying that her income for the year was $10,000 or less.

Full-Year Nonresidents—

- You must file a full-year New Jersey nonresident income tax return if you were not a New Jersey resident for any part of the year and your gross income for the entire year from all sources (both inside and outside New Jersey) was more than $20,000 ($10,000 if filing status is single or married/CU partner, filing separate return) and you received any amount of income from New Jersey sources during the year.
- You are not required to file a full-year nonresident return if you were a nonresident for the entire year and your gross income from all sources (both inside and outside New Jersey) was $20,000 or less ($10,000 or less if filing status is single or married/CU partner, filing separate return).

NOTE: If you are a full-year nonresident and your income is below the amount at which you would be required to file a tax return, you must file Form NJ-1040NR to claim a refund of income tax withheld or estimated payments made.

Part-Year Nonresidents—

If you were a New Jersey resident for part of the year, you were a nonresident for the remainder of that year. File part-year resident and/or nonresident returns as follows:

- You must file both a part-year resident return and a part-year nonresident return if your gross income from all sources for the entire year was more than $20,000 ($10,000 if filing status is single or married/CU partner, filing separate return) and you received income (whether from New Jersey sources or not) during the part of the year you were a resident and you received any amount of income from New Jersey sources during the part of the year you were a nonresident.

File only a part-year resident return if you received income (whether from New Jersey sources or not) during the part of the year you were a resident, but you had no income from New Jersey sources during the part of the year you were a nonresident. See Part-Year Residents on page 4.

- You must file only a part-year nonresident income tax return if your gross income from all sources for the entire year was more than $20,000 ($10,000 if filing status is single or married/CU partner, filing separate return) and you had income from New Jersey sources during the part of the year you were a nonresident and you had no income during the part of the year you were a resident.

No New Jersey income tax is due if the income you received from all sources during the entire year was $20,000 or less ($10,000 or less if filing status is single or married/CU partner, filing separate return). If your gross income was $20,000 or less ($10,000 or less if filing status is single or married/CU partner, filing separate return), enclose a copy of your Federal income tax return when you file your part-year New Jersey return. If you did not file a Federal return, enclose a statement with your New Jersey return certifying that your income for the entire year was $20,000 or less ($10,000 or less if filing status is single or married/CU partner, filing separate return).

- You need not file either a resident or a nonresident return if you received no income during the part of the year you were a resident, and no income from New Jersey sources during the part of the year you were a nonresident.

Filing Status Considerations

Spouse/Civil Union Partner With Different Residency Status

In general, you must use the same filing status on your New Jersey return as you do for Federal income tax purposes. If you do not file a Federal return, but you are filing a New Jersey return, use the same filing status that you would have used if you had filed a Federal return, unless you are a partner in a civil union. For more information request Tax Topic Bulletin GIT-4, Filing Status.

If a married couple files a joint Federal income tax return, they must also file a joint New Jersey income tax return. If spouses file separate Federal returns, separate State returns must also be filed. However, if you are a civil union couple, your filing status for New Jersey will not match your Federal filing status for the year.

- One spouse/civil union partner New Jersey resident, other spouse/civil union partner nonresident for entire year. If during the entire taxable year one spouse/civil union partner was a resident and the other a nonresident, separate New Jersey returns may be filed (the resident files a resident return and the nonresident files a nonresident return), even if the couple files a joint Federal return. The resident computes income and exemptions as if a Federal married, filing separate return had been filed. The spouses/civil union partners have the option of filing a joint return as residents, in which case their joint income (from both inside and outside New Jersey) would be taxed as if both were residents.
- Married/civil union couples, both nonresidents; only one has income from New Jersey sources. If both spouses/civil union partners were nonresidents of New Jersey during the entire taxable year and only one earned, received, or acquired income from New Jersey sources, the one who had income from New Jersey sources may file a separate New Jersey return, even if a joint Federal return was filed. The one with income from New Jersey sources computes income and exemptions as if a Federal married, filing separate return had been filed. The married/civil union couple has the option of filing a joint return, in which case, their joint income must be shown on the nonresident return. For more information on completing the nonresident return, see instructions for Form NJ-1040NR.

Remember: A nonresident return must be filed if you received any amount of income from New Jersey sources as a nonresident, and your income from all sources (both inside and outside New Jersey) for the entire year was more than $20,000 ($10,000 if filing status is single or married/CU partner, filing separate return).

How Residents and Nonresidents Are Taxed

Residents. New Jersey residents are subject to tax on their income from all sources, whether the income is from inside or outside of New Jersey. As a part-year New Jersey resident you must report on your resident return all the income you received during the period of time you were a New Jersey resident, whether in the form of money, goods, property, benefits, or services, unless specifically excluded by law. Married/civil union couples filing jointly must report the income of both spouses/civil union partners.

The following are some examples of income you must report if earned or received while you were a resident of New Jersey: wages, fees, or commissions earned in New Jersey or elsewhere (including a foreign country); interest received on a bank account whether located in or out of New Jersey; gain from the sale of property both in and out of New Jersey; lottery winnings from any state other than New Jersey; net profits from business, regardless of where the business is located; etc.

Remember: When completing your part-year resident return, report only the income you received during the time period covered by your resident return.

Part-year residents must prorate all exemptions, deductions, and credits, as well as the pension and other retirement income exclusions, to reflect the period covered by their return. For example, a full-year New Jersey resident is entitled to a $1,000 personal exemption; whereas a resident for six months is entitled to a personal exemption of only $500. See Completing a Part-Year Resident Return on page 9.

For more information on completing the resident return, see the instructions for Form NJ-1040.

Nonresidents. For nonresidents, New Jersey income tax liability is based on the percentage of their total income that comes from New Jersey.

The income section of the New Jersey nonresident return has two columns—Column A, income from everywhere and Column B, income from New Jersey sources. In the first column, report your income from all sources (both inside and outside New Jersey) as if you were a resident, and in the second column, list only income that was derived from New Jersey sources.

Pennsylvania residents see page 19.

In accordance with Federal legislation (Service-members Civil Relief Act, P.L. No. 108-189) nonresident servicepersons are not required to include their military pay in either their “income from everywhere” (Column A) or “income from New Jersey Sources” (Column B) on the New Jersey nonresident income tax return. For more information, request Tax Topic Bulletin GIT-7, Military Personnel.

Remember: When completing your part-year nonresident return, report in each column only the income you received during the time period covered by your nonresident return.

As a nonresident, your tax is computed on your income from all sources as if you were a New Jersey resident, and then prorated according to the ratio that your New Jersey income bears to your income from both inside and outside New Jersey. In other words, your final New Jersey income tax liability is based on the percentage of your income that comes from New Jersey.

For more information on completing the nonresident return, see the instructions for Form NJ-1040NR.

COMPLETING A PART-YEAR RESIDENT RETURN

Important Points:

- Enter dates of your New Jersey residency above Line 1.
- Report income, withholdings, and payments for period of New Jersey residency only.
- Prorate exemptions, deductions, and exclusions based on residency period.
- If you also complete a part-year nonresident return, allocate your income, withholdings, and payments between the two returns as appropriate.

1. NJ Residency Status. Show the beginning and ending dates of your residency in New Jersey during the year. If you were a resident for 15 days or more of a month, that month counts as a month of residence. For example, if you were a New Jersey resident from January 27, 2008, to July 21, 2008, you were a resident for six months.

2. Income. Complete Lines 14–25. Enter the total amount you received in each category

Retirement benefits. Do not complete Worksheet D in the NJ-1040 instruction booklet to calculate the total exclusion amount you are eligible to claim. Instead, calculate your total exclusion as follows:

Part I. Total the earned income (wages, net profits from business, partnership income, and S corporation income) you received for the entire year. If your earned income for the entire year was $3,000 or less and you did not use your entire prorated pension exclusion at Line 27a, you may be able to use the unclaimed pension exclusion at Line 27b provided total income for the entire year before subtracting any pension exclusion was $100,000 or less.

Part II. If you are unable to receive Social Security or Railroad Retirement benefits, but would have been eligible for benefits had you fully participated in either program, you may also be eligible for an additional exclusion, whether or not you used all of your prorated pension exclusion on Line 27a.

NOTE: When you and your spouse/civil union partner file a joint return and only one of you is 62 or older or disabled, you may claim the full amount of the prorated exclusion. However, only the income of the one who is age 62 or older or disabled may be excluded.

More Information. For more detailed information on pension, annuity, and IRA withdrawal income and the New Jersey income exclusions, request Tax Topic Bulletins GIT-1, Pensions and Annuities, and GIT-2, IRA Withdrawals.  From Line 12b _____ × $1,500 = _____
 Total Exemption Amount _____

Once you have calculated your Total Exemption Amount, use the formula below and then enter the prorated exemption amount on Line 29.

5. Deductions.

(a) Medical Expenses (Line 30). You may deduct certain medical expenses for which you were not reimbursed by insurance or any other plan, qualified Archer medical savings account (MSA) contributions, and health insurance costs of the self-employed. Complete Worksheet E in the resident return (Form NJ-1040) instruction booklet to calculate your deduction for medical expenses. Include only those expenses that were incurred and paid during the period of time you were a New Jersey resident.

(b) Alimony and Separate Maintenance Payments (Line 31). You may deduct alimony and separate maintenance payments paid for the period of time you were a New Jersey resident. Child support payments are not deductible.

(c) Qualified Conservation Contribution (Line 32). You may deduct the amount of any qualified conservation contribution you made during the period of time you were a New Jersey resident.

(d) Health Enterprise Zone (Line 33). Eligible taxpayers engaged in providing “primary care” medical and/or dental services at a qualified practice located in or within five miles of a designated Health Enterprise

Zone (HEZ) may qualify for a deduction. For information on eligibility requirements and how to calculate the HEZ deduction, see Technical Bulletin TB-56, Health Enterprise Zones.

NOTE: New Jersey does not allow deductions for adjustments taken on the Federal return such as employee business expenses or IRA and Keogh Plan contributions.

8. Tax Withheld/Property Tax Credit/ Estimated Payments.

(a) Line 47. Enter the amount of New Jersey income tax withheld from wages you earned or other payments you received while you were a New Jersey resident. If your employer combined wages you earned as a resident and wages you earned as a nonresident on the same W-2, and you earned some of those wages from New Jersey while a nonresident, include here only tax withheld during the period you were a resident. Allocate the New Jersey income tax withheld between your part-year resident and part-year nonresident returns. If you did not earn any of the wages on the W-2 while a nonresident, report the total New Jersey tax withheld on the W-2.

(b) Line 48. If you are claiming a property tax credit rather than a property tax deduction, enter the amount of your prorated credit.

(c) Line 49. Enter the amount of estimated payments to New Jersey for the period of time you were a resident. If you made estimated payments both as a resident and as a nonresident, enter on your part-year resident return the payment(s) made to meet the tax liability for your period of New Jersey residency. Enter on the part-year nonresident return the payment(s) made to satisfy your tax liability during the part of the year you were a nonresident. Also enter amounts, if any, paid to qualify for an extension of time to file.

Earned Income Tax Credit Schedule

(Keep for your records)

1. Enter the amount of your Federal earned income credit from your 2008 Federal Form 1040 or Form 1040A 1. _____
Fill in the first oval below Line 50 if you asked the IRS to calculate your Federal earned income credit. Civil union couples, see instructions.
2. Enter 22.5% of amount on line 1 here and on Line 50, Form NJ-1040. Part-year residents, see instructions 2. _____

9. New Jersey Earned Income Tax Credit (Line 50). If you are eligible and file for a Federal earned income credit, you can also receive a New Jersey credit in the amount equal to 22.5% of your Federal benefit. Complete the Earned Income Tax Credit Schedule to calculate the amount for Line 50, Form NJ-1040. However, you must prorate your credit based on the number of months you were a New Jersey resident. For this calculation 15 days or more is a month.

You must file Form NJ-1040 to receive a New Jersey earned income tax credit, even if you are not required to file a return because your gross income is below the minimum income threshold (see Part-Year Residents on page 4).

NOTE: If your filing status is married/CU partner, filing separate return, you may not claim a New Jersey earned income tax credit.

If you asked the Internal Revenue Service to calculate your Federal earned income credit, be sure to fill in the first oval below Line 50, Form NJ-1040. (Civil union couples should not fill in this oval even if one or both of you are eligible for a Federal credit and asked the IRS to calculate the amount. See the instructions for Civil Union Couples below.) The IRS will provide information to the Division of Taxation in October 2009. Please allow at least 4–6 weeks for the Division to process the information and issue a check for your New Jersey earned income tax credit.

Civil Union Couples. If you file a joint New Jersey return and wish to determine if you are eligible for the NJEITC, prepare a Federal return as if you were married, filing jointly and calculate the amount of the Federal earned income credit, if any, you would have been eligible to receive on a joint Federal return. Once you have determined the amount of the Federal credit you would have received as joint filers, you must use that amount on the Earned Income Tax Credit Worksheet to calculate your New Jersey credit. Be sure to fill in only the second oval below Line 50 indicating you are a civil union couple.

10. Tenant Homestead Rebate Application.

Part-year residents may be eligible for a New Jersey tenant homestead rebate if they rented and occupied a qualified dwelling in New Jersey that was their principal residence on October 1, 2008, and they meet all the other eligibility requirements. Since eligibility for the homestead rebate is based, in part, on gross income, your application must show your gross income for the entire year. (This figure may be different from the amount of gross income you reported on Line 28 of your part-year resident return.) If your filing status is married/CU partner, filing separate return and you and your spouse/civil union partner maintain the same principal residence, you must also list your spouse's/civil union partner's income for the entire year. Complete the balance of the application according to the instructions. Enter only the rent you paid for the rental property that was your principal residence on October 1, 2008.

NOTE: If you owned and occupied a home in New Jersey that was your principal residence on October 1, 2008, you may be eligible for a homestead rebate as a homeowner. Applications are expected to be mailed to homeowners at the end of April. There is no homeowner rebate application in the income tax return booklet.

1. Residency Status.

(a) Complete the “State of Residency (outside NJ)” box below your social security number(s) at the top of the return. Indicate the place outside New Jersey where you lived for the period of nonresidency. If you lived at more than one location, give the most recent.

(b) Show the beginning and ending dates of your residency in New Jersey during the tax year.

NOTE: When you file a part-year nonresident return, you are likely to be required to file a part-year resident return, too. (See page 6.) The part-year resident return covers the period of New Jersey residency shown above Line 1, and the part-year nonresident return covers the portion of the year you were not a resident of New Jersey. If you were a nonresident for 15 days or more of a month, that month counts as a month of nonresidence. For example, if you were a New Jersey resident from September 27, 2008, to December 31, 2008, you were a nonresident for nine months. See Exemptions on page 21.

2. Income. Complete both Columns A and B, Lines 14–26. Include only income you received for the part of the year you were a nonresident. Report in Column A income from all sources (both inside and outside New Jersey) as if you were a resident; in Column B, show your income from New Jersey sources. Follow the instructions in the nonresident return instruction booklet for completing each line. For every entry in Column A, there should be an entry on the corresponding line in Column B. If none of the income in Column A is from New Jersey sources, enter “0” in Column B. In certain circumstances, the amount in Column B can exceed the amount in Column A. No entry is needed on Line 21, Column B since pension, annuity, and IRA withdrawal income is not taxable to nonresidents.

Pennsylvania residents are not subject to income tax on wages they earn in New Jersey. Therefore, if you are a Pennsylvania resident, you must report all your wages (including wages earned in New Jersey) in Column A, and “0” should be entered in Column B.

This exception applies only to wages. Pennsylvania residents are subject to New Jersey tax on other types of income from New Jersey sources. For example, winnings from a casino or racetrack located in New Jersey or net profits from a business located in New Jersey must be reported in both Column A and Column B.

3. Pension and Other Retirement Income Exclusion.

Column A: If you were a New Jersey nonresident for only part of the taxable year and had total income from all sources for the entire year of $100,000 or less before subtracting any pension exclusion, you may qualify for a pension exclusion if you meet the other eligibility requirements. If you qualify, prorate the exclusion by the number of months you were a New Jersey nonresident. For this calculation 15 days or more is a month. See page 10 for a description of how to prorate the pension exclusion amount.

NOTE: When you and your spouse/civil union partner file a joint return and only one of you is 62 or older or disabled, you may claim the full amount of the prorated exclusion. However, only the income of the one who is age 62 or older or disabled may be excluded.

Column B: No entry is necessary in Column B since pension, annuity, and IRA withdrawal income is not taxable to nonresidents.

(b) Other Retirement Income Exclusion (Line 27b, Columns A and B). If you (and/or your spouse/civil union partner if filing jointly) were 62 years of age or older on the last day of the tax year, you may qualify to exclude other income on Line 27b. There are two parts to the total exclusion: Part I, the unclaimed portion of your prorated pension exclusion, and Part II, a special exclusion for taxpayers who are unable to receive Social Security or Railroad Retirement benefits. Do not complete Worksheet D in the NJ-1040NR instruction booklet to calculate the total exclusion amount you are eligible to claim. Instead, calculate your total exclusion as follows:

Part I. Total the earned income (wages, net profits from business, partnership income, and S corporation income) you received from all sources for the entire year. If your earned income for the entire year was $3,000 or less and you did not use your entire prorated pension exclusion at Line 27a, you may be able to use the unclaimed pension exclusion at Line 27b provided total income from all sources for the entire year before subtracting any pension exclusion was $100,000 or less.

Part II. If you are unable to receive Social Security or Railroad Retirement benefits, but would have been eligible for benefits had you fully participated in either program, you may also be eligible for an additional exclusion, whether or not you used all of your prorated pension exclusion at Line 27a.

NOTE: When you and your spouse/civil union partner file a joint return and only one of you is 62 or older or disabled, you may claim the full amount of the prorated exclusion. However, only the income of the one who is age 62 or older or disabled may be excluded.

More Information. For information on calculating your partnership and S corporation income, request Tax Topic Bulletin GIT-9P, Income From Partnerships, and GIT-9S, Income From S Corporations. For more information on pension, annuity, and IRA withdrawal income and the New Jersey income exclusions, request Tax Topic Bulletins GIT-1, Pensions and Annuities, and GIT-2, IRA Withdrawals.

4. Exemptions. You must prorate the exemption allowance amount based upon the number of months you were a New Jersey nonresident. For this calculation 15 days or more is a month. First determine the full value of your exemptions as follows:

From Line 12a _____ × $1,000 = _____
 From Line 12b _____ × $1,500 = _____
 Total Exemption Amount _____

Once you have calculated your Total Exemption Amount, use the formula below and then enter the prorated exemption amount on Line 30.

5. Deductions.

(a) Medical Expenses (Line 31). You may deduct certain medical expenses for which you were not reimbursed by insurance or any other plan, qualified Archer medical savings account (MSA) contributions, and health insurance costs of the self-employed. Complete Worksheet E in the nonresident return instruction booklet (Form NJ-1040NR) to calculate your deduction for medical expenses. Include only those expenses that were incurred and paid during the period of time you were a New Jersey nonresident.

(c) Qualified Conservation Contribution (Line 33). You may deduct the amount of any qualified conservation contribution you made during the period of time you were a New Jersey nonresident.

(d) Health Enterprise Zone (Line 34). Eligible taxpayers engaged in providing “primary care” medical and/or dental services at a qualified practice located in or within five miles of a designated Health Enterprise Zone (HEZ) may qualify for a deduction. For information on eligibility requirements and how to calculate the HEZ deduction, see Technical Bulletin TB-56, Health Enterprise Zones.

Allocate the New Jersey income tax withheld between your part-year resident and part-year nonresident returns if you earned wages from New Jersey as a resident and as a nonresident.

(b) Line 45. Enter the amount of estimated payments to New Jersey for the period of time you were a nonresident. If you made estimated payments both as a resident and as a nonresident, enter on your part-year resident return the payment(s) made to meet the tax liability for your period of New Jersey residency. Enter on the part-year nonresident return the payment(s) made to satisfy your tax liability during the part of the year you were a nonresident.
